Dear CMP Subscriber:

My name is Sarah Sneesby, the Founding Artistic Director of Creative Movement Practices. On behalf of CMP, I am writing to let you know about our latest project. Since we closed our inaugural production of William Shakespeare's Macbeth, we've been busy auditioning and casting our next big project. We are currently looking to raise $4000 in the month of July to cover the upfront costs of rehearsal space and childcare support for our next production: *Gideon and the Blundersnorp: An Adventure Musical!

Gideon and the Blundersnorp made its world premiere in 2021 at the Hollywood Fringe Festival where it won several awards including Best New Musical. We are excited to have been selected to produce this relatively new musical and are equally excited to share with the greater Houston area a musical full of magic, adventure, movement and puppets!

Here's how you can support us:

- > Donate online: Click here to donate!
- > Send us a check: Please make it payable to Fractured Atlas with Creative Movement Practices in the memo line. Send it to our company mailing address.
- > Share our fundraiser: Tell your friends and your community about our work and ask them to support us!
- > We are also open to any in-kind donations or matching opportunities! If you are able to offer either of these, please let us know by responding to this email.

Creative Movement Practices is a sponsored project of Fractured Atlas, a non-profit arts service organization. Contributions for the charitable purposes of Creative Movement Practices must be made payable to "Fractured Atlas" and are tax-deductible to the extent permitted by law.

We are deeply grateful for your support, and for the broader support of our community. We wouldn't be here without you, and we look forward to continuing to change the culture surrounding rehearsal rooms by providing a collaborative, equitable, dynamic space for actors of all ages, experiences, and backgrounds to come together and create!

Sincerely,
Sarah Sneesby
